Subject: Cable TV

I subscribe to Charter Cable service in Reno, Nevada. I have 78 stations and I only watch 14 channels. I would like to not have to pay for the channels that I do not watch. Many of the channels are pornographic, distasteful, Spanish speaking, and other things that I do not want to support.

I strongly support a la carte pricing for cable TV and urge the FCC to make this option available to cable customers. The present system - all or nothing - is outrageous. Thank you.

Dear Mr. Martin

I saw a newspaper artical on Feb.14th that delt with your pasition on A la cart seletion of TV channels. I THANK YOU for standing up for consumers. Pleas keep up your fight to get true A la cart not packages the that the cable owners want. If you have any input on the telephone companys being alowed to provide cable tv as compatition please fight for this also. We have compatition on just about every thing else. We need it for cable TV also

Thanks

Chairmen and commissioners,

I would like to express my strong support for a "a la carte" approach to cable programming. For too long I have had to purchase inappropriate channels simply to get channels like ESPN or Cartoon Network. A system that allowed me to choose which channels I would purchase would put the power back into my hands. It would also ensure that channels that couldn't compete would go out of business. Please move this forward!

Subject: Thank you.

Debbie,

I applaud you, your colleagues, the FCC for helping to force the requirement for Ala Carte TV programming coming into the homes of America.

As a parent of two kids ages 18 and 14, I have been astounded at the rubbish that comes into my home over the current Comcast Cable TV service I now have. Complaining to them is like talking to a wall. I cannot really afford the current Cable costs and have no desire to expose my kids to any more filth, inappropriate shows, programming, etc, a steady stream of which is constantly being sent to my TV, my computer, my kids music.

My wife and I both work and cannot always be there to monitor and regulate what our kids look at. Also, the restrictions that Comcast says parents can place on things by tweaking the TV box do not work on our TV. Saying that we should "just not watch it if we don't like it" is so unrealistic and pathetic. Parents cannot control this junk.

If I could pick what I'd like to let into my home from a web site, it would make for a much more moral, healthier experience.

If some shows/programs suffer due to low attendance, well, too bad. If we end up with not enough moral, clean programming, well, its better than what we have now. They people in Hollywood who produce this vial garbage have no interest in keeping our kids moral. To the contrary, they'd like them to become more immoral so Hollywood can peddle their trash. Anyone who wants to watch immoral rubbish still could (God help them) but those who do not have an option. The free market will take care of the rest.

As adults we need to get this done not only on TV but also the dreaded internet. Awful technologies I certainly didn't have to deal with as a kid.

Thank you for trying to address this issue. Do not give up.

All it takes is some technology and it can be built.

Best Regards,

Subject: Preservation of funding for local PEG Access television stations

TO: Chairman Kevin J. Martin
Commissioner Michael J. Copps
Commissioner Jonathan S. Adelstein, and
Commissioner Deborah Taylor Tate

I am a member of the PEG Access Advisory Board for PTTV, local channels 47 and 48 in Port Townsend, Washington. PTTV has continuously broadcast local public, school and government programs since 1998. The most watched program is our local council meetings. Because of PTTV the elderly, the disabled, the infirm and parents who must stay home with their children have access to council meetings, which are rebroadcast several times after their initial live bi-monthly broadcast. The Port Townsend School District Superintendent has a regular program where he informs the public of current matters. Most of the non-profit organizations in Jefferson County have participated in programs to inform the public of their missions. Jefferson Healthcare, our local hospital, provides educational programming to inform the public of various health issues and preventative health care. The motto of PTTV is "Community through Communication" and that is exactly what PTTV has provided our city and county residents for the past 8 years.

After the Seattle earthquake of February 26, 2001 I immediately turned to PTTV to find out what damage had occurred in our LOCAL community. PTTV was the only immediate access the public had to what had happened in our own area. Several years ago an Alzheimer's patient disappeared in the middle of the night. The police called the station manager, Gary Lemons at his home and he immediately broadcast the information regarding this missing person. She was found before the sun came up. I could go on and on, but I think you realize just how important access to the public airwaves is to our community. Please do everything you can to steward those airwaves and assure that we maintain funding through Franchise Agreements. Thank you for your consideration of this very important matter,

Sincerely,

Karen Nelson
